

There is not much to report- This whole digital adventure has been a lot to take on. We've had delays with schedules meshing up, web builds and the biggest complication- life. We WILL have a raffle this year- even if we have to do it the old-fashioned way, mailing out paper tickets.

Even if we have the raffle with a mailing, we have the option to have more than one raffle per year- we can also split raffles up by doing our standard raffle with guns, cash and fur and we could do a bigger prize with just a couple of big ticket items and sell them at a higher rate. If anyone has any resources or relationships with people or businesses that may work with us on free or reduced priced prizes, let me know so that I can have our president call and sweet talk or strong-arm them 😊
